I am professional freelancer, based in London.

I have been working as a Russian interpreter and translator for over twenty five years. I have a lot of experience in conference interpreting. I have worked at various high-level events all over the UK and the world.

I worked for the UK and Russian Chamber of Commerce, The World Bank, UK courts, the UK Customs, the Department of Culture and History, with specialists in various fields and ministers of various countries. My work has been commended for being professional, efficient, very high quality and thoroughly prepared. Some of the areas I worked in:

Legal (import and export legislation, laws, resolutions, provisions, trade, customs regulations, contracts, court interpretation)

Medicine (prevention and treatment of health hazards related to radiation; men's health, healthcare programmes)

Nuclear nonproliferation (nuclear industry and policies in the Commonwealth of Independent States, nuclear facilities, nuclear materials, technology, production processes, mining)

Military (nuclear, chemical, and other weapons of mass destruction, equipment, policies, conversion, navy)

Economics and finance

International policy

Oil/gas (prospecting, drilling, maintenance of wells)

Energy (safety standards, policy, specialist exchange programs);

Space (satellites, policy, the International Space Station);

Agriculture

Education (university administration, fundraising);

Document translation (birth certificates, marriage certificates, diplomas, etc. with certification and notarization when necessary)

Voice over/dubbing (I have a pleasant voice and great pronunciation, I am very familiar with idiomatic expressions both in English and Russian, and therefore have had a lot of experience in doing voice over for movies, advertisements or other video materials)
